To All Concerned Parties,

Update regarding the confirmed case of COVID-19 coronavirus (3)

One member of our staff was confirmed to have the COVID-19 coronavirus. This is an update regarding the current situation.

The current situation at Fuji
After a member of staff was confirmed to have the COVID-19 coronavirus on March 8, Fuji has employed numerous measures to prevent the virus from spreading. As of March 20, two weeks after the infected staff member was last present at work, there have been no new cases within our staff or family residing with them. Because none of staff members that were considered to be persons with significant contact and thus were required to go into home isolation have exhibited any of the symptoms that would cause suspicion of infection, the instruction for home isolation was lifted on March 20.

On this current date there are no members of Fuji staff considered to be persons with significant contact, but if a staff member is determined to be a person with significant contact with someone infected with COVID-19 outside of Fuji, or if a staff member is returning from a country or region in which the number of COVID-19 cases is growing, they will be required to take the appropriate measures to prevent the spread of the virus such as a 14 day self-isolation period.

Update on the infected individual's condition
After being admitted to a medical facility on March 12 for observation, the individual has continued to not show any further symptoms and they remain in a stable condition. An initial PCR test taken on March 18 returned a negative result. The individual has a second PCR test scheduled for today. If the second test also returns a negative result, the individual is scheduled to be discharged once cleared by a doctor.

As to when the individual will be able to return to work, we are receiving advice from both the health center and Fuji's industrial physician so that we may proceed while making the right decisions.

It is important to us that we continue to deliver truthful information about this matter and take the right steps to prevent the further spread of this virus. We apologize for any concern that this may cause.

Thank you for your understanding.
